The mayor of Louisville has decided he wants to host the X-games, so he has built one of the biggest and baddest cement parks in the U.S. and maybe the world.

.....
WHERE: Louisville, KY

WHAT: A huge cement park with a 24 foot radius full pipe, big bowls, a street course and a monster vert ramp.

GOOD: Open 24 hours a day with lights and no pads required. A good poored park with tons of lines and fun.

BAD: BMX heaven, the bikers are everywhere, so skate at midnight when they go to sleep.

PADS: NONE

DIRECTIONS: Take I-64 west to the 3rd st exit downtown. Go left onto River Road and then go right on the curve which is Witherspoon. Go under the Interstate overpass and the park will be on the right.

OVERALL: It's a 9.5 out of 10 after the BMX brigade has vanished.
